

WILL HE MAKE HIS DECISION?

Friends Of The Governor Say It Is To Come Very Soon, Perhaps This Week.

GOVERNOR, SENATOR, PRESIDENT?

These Are Questions That Are Bothing Davidson, Houser, Esch, Cooper, Connor And Stephenson.

[SPECIAL BY SCRIPTS-M'RAE.]
Madison, Wis., Oct. 15.—The ride of the sphinx is soon to be solved. It is heard here that within a very few days Governor Robert M. La Follette will make it known whether or not he will go to the United States senate. It is said that a decision has already been arrived at and that this decision was the result of advice given by request of the governor by Tax Commissioner Nils P. Haugen. There is no direct information at hand upon which to base a guess what the determination is. On the one hand is the honor, large salary, and wide and powerful influence of the office of United States senator to suggest that Governor La Follette will not decline the toga, but on the other hand recent persistent rumors of declination are based upon the almost traditional ambition of La Follette. He wants to be president, is the current remark. He will decline the senatorship, as soon as he ascertains that he can hand it to a perfectly dependable member of his organization, and then he will "reluctantly" run for a fourth term as governor and when the time comes will be given the votes of other states in the national republican convention. This will be the first signal. It will come from states other than Wisconsin and Wisconsin will choose its delegates after other states have taken the initiative. Such is the interesting gossip at the state capital, but the most important part of it is the apparently reliable report that the governor will make his intentions known within a short time.

Milwaukee News Story.
In summing up the present situation the Madison correspondent for the Milwaukee News has the following to say relative to Governor La Follette and his plans. This comes in so close to what the Madison correspondent of the Gazette has to say that it is reprinted.

Friends of W. D. Connor have become aroused by the various reports which have been in circulation to the effect that Gov. Robert M. La Follette did not intend going to the United States senate, but instead he would remain in the state and run for governor. Connor feels that something is due him from the fact that he has borne with Uncle Isaac Stephenson and thinks that it is time some kind of recognition was given him for the career which he has assumed for "reform." He wants to be either governor or given a chance if La Follette remains in the state to become a candidate for United States senator and is ready to vehemently protest against a cut and dried program which leaves the governor in the governor's chair and railroads Mr. Stephenson to the United States senate.

Mr. Connor thinks also that it is time he was given warning if such a plan is on foot. If it is carried out, also over the objection of Mr. Connor, he is going to make a fuss and there may be some merry times ahead in the near future for the La Follette people and some times which may make trouble for the "machine" no matter what may be the action of the governor in regard to the United States senate.

Mr. Connor thinks there is enough evidence at hand that the governor intends trying to place Mr. Stephenson in the United States senate for him to begin asking questions about the matter and he thinks furthermore that his position at the top of the cohorts of "reform" entitles him to an answer in the matter.

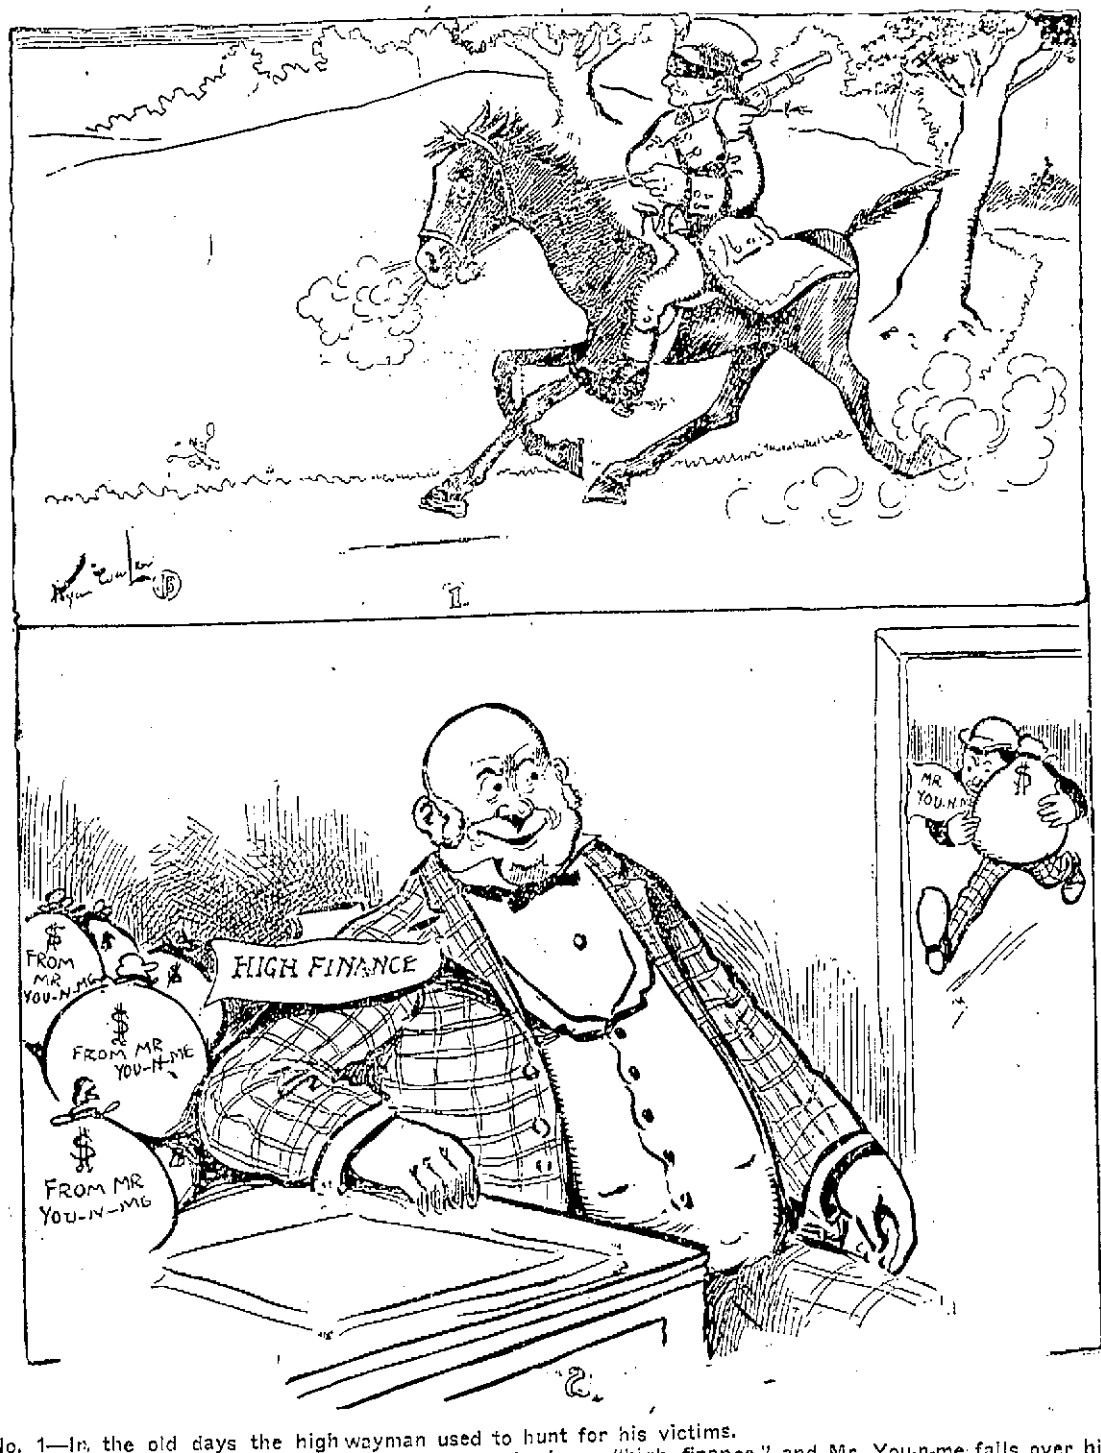

But W. D. Connor is not the only one that is anxious to know what the plans of the governor for the future are. The recent reports backed up by evidence that men who should be in the governor's confidence are doing quiet work in aid of Isaac Stephenson's senatorial candidacy have caused such men as John J. Esch and even H. A. Cooper to prick up their ears and they think that as they showed senatorial strength when the initial contest for the senatorship was on that they should be given a chance to enter the field if there is another election and be allowed to fight for the senatorship.

Friends of these men have been doing considerable talking among La Follette politicians the last few days and they have dropped quiet hints that they think it is about time that accurate information should be given by the governor as to what his future plans are. These men also will be considerably put out if the plans are so engineered that the governor is able to place Mr. Stephenson in the United States senate without giving any other candidate a show in the race.

Especially will this be true of Mr. Cooper, whose life ambition is to be a United States senator from Wisconsin. The congressman from the first district thinks he has a call for information from the La Follette leaders in regard to their future plans, especially after the step he took in the last campaign when he jumped carpet bag and trunks into the La Follette camp and from the stump publicly proclaimed the La Follette doctrine as well as Cooper loyalty to the governor. As a matter of fact, however, it is not likely that the governor will care much for the pressure from either Mr. Cooper or Mr. Esch for an answer in regard to his plans.

The appeasing of Connor will both of him considerably more than will anything that these congressmen or their friends may say or do. The governor is fully aware of the strength of Mr. Connor with the working members of his "machine," and he knows that an open rupture with Mr. Connor will mean a fight within his own ranks of considerable more magnitude than he may be able to easily settle. Thus the demands of Mr. Connor may cause a considerable amount of discussion to the La Follette leaders.

The man from Marshfield is playing his cards shrewdly again. Just as in Milwaukee state fair week he prevented a conference of the La Follette leaders for state-making purposes by saying that such a movement would be against the spirit of the primary election-law and thus out of keeping with the demands throughout his political life of La Follette that the people name candidates so now Mr. Connor declares that any move toward bringing a legislature together, pledging in advance to the selection of Isaac Stephenson, will be an exercise of "machine" rule such as has never before been known in this state. In this position Mr. Connor is undoubtedly logical and his argument coming as it does from the La Follette home camp shows strongly to the La Follette people in what light the proposed Stephenson plans could be put if they are carried out. Despite this opposition, however, it can be said that if Gov. La Follette does not go to the United States senate he will do his best to give the place to Mr. Stephenson.

[SPECIAL BY SCRIPTS-M'RAE.]
New York, Oct. 16.—The first Roman Catholic Pedagogical College for women opened here today. The institution is designed chiefly for Catholic teachers in the public schools of New York City, and it is expected that the idea will be adopted by the school boards of other cities in the United States.

KOMURA IS GIVEN A CHILLY RECEPTION

Peace Envoy Is Met Only by Officials—Sees the Emperor Immediately.

[SPECIAL BY SCRIPTS-M'RAE.]
Tokio, Oct. 16.—Komura arrived home today. He was given an unenthusiastic reception. Only officials heaving present. The streets were strongly guarded. He drove to the palace in an imperial carriage. The treaty of peace is in effect today. The text was published this afternoon. The minister of war ordered all officers and men to refrain from criticizing the treaty, on the grounds that the treaty was the outcome of sovereign power.

PROMINENT MEN ARE ON WAY TO RUSSIA

Charles B. Flint and George W. Perkins Go to St. Petersburg on Business.

[SPECIAL BY SCRIPTS-M'RAE.]
Plymouth, Eng., Oct. 16.—George W. Perkins and Charles B. Flint arrived this morning. Flint is supposed to have contracts for building Russian warships. He went to Cherbourg, thence to Berlin and St. Petersburg. Perkins is reported as going to negotiate a Russian loan in the United States and refused to discuss his mission beyond saying he was going to St. Petersburg on business.

SUPREME COURT WILL NOT ADVANCE CASES

Howard, Alleged Murderer of Governor Goebel, Must Wait His Turn.

[SPECIAL BY SCRIPTS-M'RAE.]
Washington, Oct. 16.—The supreme court today denied a motion to advance the case of Howard against the state of Kentucky. Howard is under a life sentence for the alleged murder of Goebel. The court advanced the cases of the tobacco and paper trusts officials who refused to answer questions or produce papers in the lower courts. The arguments are set for January 2.

LIVELY TIME DOWN AT LITCHFIELD, ILL.

Interurban Company Tries to Cross Railway Tracks and Is Enjoined by Roads.

[SPECIAL BY SCRIPTS-M'RAE.]
Litchfield, Ill., Oct. 16.—At 12:30 this morning 250 employees of the St. Louis and Northwestern Interurban Railway, which connects St. Louis, Litchfield, Springfield, and Decatur, put crossings across the Burlington and Illinois Central tracks. At one o'clock Judge McWilliams issued an injunction, but the tracks were in before it was served. The matter was supposed to be in abeyance until a decision of the railroad and warehouse commission was given. At six o'clock the interurban company secured an injunction restraining the Burlington and Illinois Central companies from tearing up the tracks and at ten o'clock an injunction was issued against the interurban restraining them from crossing the Big Four. Forty minutes later the Wabash secured a similar injunction.

WESTERN MARYLAND SYNDICATE ENDED

Ramsay Was Connected with Syndicate—Was to Purchase Connections for Wabash.

[SPECIAL BY SCRIPTS-M'RAE.]
New York, Oct. 16.—The West Virginia Central and Western Maryland purchase syndicate was terminated today. The syndicate managers were Winslow S. Pierce, Myron T. Herriell, Edward L. Fuller, Alvin W. Krech, Howard Gould and Joseph Ramsey, Jr. The syndicate was formed to purchase roads which would ultimately provide an Atlantic seaboard connection for the Wabash Railroad. The roads are the West Virginia Central and Western Maryland. For the purpose of financing the acquisition the syndicate was to raise $20,000,000.

TO ASK BAILEY TO QUIT PLACE

Mass Meeting to Request Member of School Board To Resign His Office.

GRAND JURY IS UNDER CHARGES

Dougherty's Attorney Likely To Make Claim That The Investigating Body Was Irregularly Drawn.

[SPECIAL BY SCRIPTS-M'RAE.]
Peoria, Ill., Oct. 15.—Instead of decreasing, day by day the Dougherty school board scandal grows. This evening there will be a mass meeting of the voters of the second ward, in which the ex-school superintendent lived, at which time the advisability will be discussed of asking O. J. Bailey, chairman of the finance committee, who was indicted for gross negligence, to resign from the board. Meetings in other wards also are planned and it is expected that within a few days every member of the school board will have been asked to resign.

From political sources there comes a strong rumor that Governor Deneen is considering the necessity of asking the resignation of S. O. Spring from the board of the state asylum at Bartonville. Spring was cashier of the Peoria National Bank, of which Dougherty was president. The rumors of the investigation which was conducted by the grand jury against the bank officials have reached the governor and it is said that he is not pleased with the undue prominence in which one of his statesmen has been brought. The other members of the asylum board are E. M. Wayne, Delavan and K. M. Whitman of Aledo.

Alleges Jury Is Irregular.
Charges that the September grand jury was improperly drawn and padded probably will be the line of defense brought by the attorneys of Newton C. Dougherty, the indicted ex-superintendent and bank president. Gross irregularities in the makeup of the jury, in which some sensational disclosures may come, may be shown.

That Dougherty will fight the case against him is given as a certainty, as his son Horace has given it out that the case will be fought out to the bitter end. Members of the family believe him innocent and they are standing by him through all of the accusations. Every day they visit him in his cell.

The irregular manner in which the grand jury was drawn has been the subject of much comment, and the attorneys for Dougherty will not be the only ones to question the authority of the grand jury.

Trial Likely in November.
Unless a discontinuance is granted, Dougherty will face a trial at the November term of court. His attorneys may ask for more time and in case they do it undoubtedly will be granted them. This is not looked for and the supposition is that the case will come up in November, when Peoria county will witness the most sensational trial in its history.

Prominent members of the Peoria bar scout the idea that Dougherty can escape the enormous number of indictments now piled up against him. Should he escape some of the charges it is expected that there are sufficient instances of forgery to hold him, and it is not believed that he will be able to make his case hold.

ANSWERS FILED BY THE EQUITABLE MEN

Directors and Former Directors Reply to Suits Brought Against Them by New York State.

[SPECIAL BY SCRIPTS-M'RAE.]
New York, Oct. 16.—Directors, former directors and others of the old Equitable organization today filed answers in the suits against them by State Attorney-General Mayer. One director has already filed his answer but the Attorney-General refuses absolutely to discuss the nature of the reply. It is expected that in the light of the condition of affairs exposed by the examination of Messrs. George W. Perkins, McCall, McCurdy and others, the Attorney-General will be able to make an invincible fight against these whom the State has begun suits for violation of the insurance laws.

COSSACKS ROUTED SUNDAY CROWD IN ST. PETERSBURG

Red Flag Demonstration At The Russian Capital Stopped By Soldiers Yesterday.

[SPECIAL BY SCRIPTS-M'RAE.]
St. Petersburg, Oct. 16.—Red flag demonstrations in the Nevsky Prospect Sunday afternoon drew out immense crowds of spectators, but a squadron of cossacks and Cossacks drove the demonstrators away without resorting to force.

There were no disturbances in the industrial quarter of the city. Large forces of troops were held in readiness in the courtyards of the barracks and in the squares in various parts of the city to deal with any disorders.

From the Nevsky Prospect a band of students and workmen, carrying red flags and chanting revolutionary songs, marched across the river and began an open air meeting in the square in front of the university. While the speeches were in progress the police again charged and dispersed the crowds.

Two Receive Saber Cuts.
In the melee a workman and a student received saber cuts. The crowd took refuge in the university buildings, and the meeting was continued there without being disturbed by the police.

During the annual school festival of the fifth gymnasium members in the audience began to hiss the national hymn. A panic ensued, and the excitement was augmented by the explosion of giant firecrackers. Many persons were brushed in the rush, but no one was seriously injured.

Gendarmes Charge Cortege.
The body of the late Prince Trouzsky was conveyed to the Nikolai station for removal to Moscow. A vast multitude and deputations of students followed the cortege. When the procession was nearing the station a squadron of gendarmes appeared and almost at the same moment a revolver shot rang out from the crowd, causing a panic. The gendarmes drew their swords and charged and dispersed the crowd, mourners and spectators leaving quietly in all directions. The gendarmes did not use their swords, and as far as can be ascertained no one was seriously injured.

Czar Pays Reformer Tribute.
Among the wreaths laid on the coffin of the dead reformer was one of natural orchids from Emperor Nicholas.

The street sales of the Slovo have been prohibited. The composers of St. Petersburg have decided to engage in a three days' strike in sympathy with the Moscow strikers.

By command of the emperor the council of the empire has suspended the greater part of its legislative labors and returned the bills awaiting its consideration to the ministerial departments concerned for submission to the imperial duma.

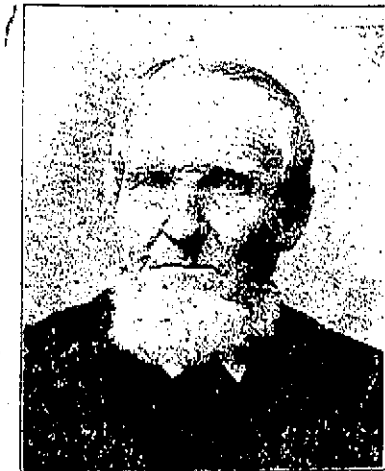

UNVEIL WINDOW WITH CEREMONY

SIMPLE SERVICE TO DEDICATE BEAUTIFUL MEMORIAL.

AN OLD, OLD, HYMN IS SUNG

Ode Was Rendered Also at Funerals of Late Dr. Wilder and Dr. Blaisdell.

At the morning service in the Congregational church yesterday the new memorial window in the east front of the edifice was unveiled. The ceremonies were simple but impressive. At the close of the sermon the congregation rose and faced the rear of the auditorium, while the choir sang the old, old hymn which opens with these lines: "For all thy saints, "For all thy saints who from their labors rest."

This is the same hymn that was sung at the funeral of Dr. Wilder of this city and of Rev. Blaisdell of Beloit and was for this reason selected to be sung yesterday.

The window

The window is a beautiful memorial to the men and women who by their sacrifices built the church. It, through the four panels which are surrounded by a rose-effect design, is an epitome of the story told in the Bible. On the left is David, typifying the history and prophecy of the Old Testament, and as he strikes his harp and sings he is looking forward. The middle panels represent the facts in Christ's life, the birth and the cross bearing, and they are suggestive of His services to humanity. On the right is Paul, who typifies Christianity since Christ. His pose and expression suggest the thoughtfulness and activity of true Christian life.

The Memorial

The first panel is a memorial to Frederick S. Eldred and Sarah Westmore, his wife, given by Fannie E. Eldred. The second panel is to Joseph C. Echlin and Clarissa B. Echlin, his wife, given by their children and Mr. C. Bassett. The third panel is to

Going to Bed Hungry

Stuart's dyspepsia tablet ad ... It's All Wrong and Man Is The Only Creature That Does It.

The complete emptiness of the stomach during sleep adds greatly to the amount of emaciation, sleeplessness and general weakness so often met with. There is a perpetual change of tissues in the body, sleeping or waking, and the supply of nourishment ought to be somewhat continuous and food taken just before retiring adds more tissue than is destroyed, and increased weight and vigor is the result. Dr. W. T. Cathell says: "All animals except man eat before sleep and there is no reason in Nature why man should follow the exception to the rule."

If people who are thin, nervous and sleepless would take a light lunch of bread and milk or oatmeal and cream and at the same time take a safe, harmless stomach remedy like Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets in order to aid the stomach in digesting it, the result will be a surprising increase in weight, strength and general vigor. The only drawback has been that thin, nervous, dyspeptic people cannot digest and assimilate wholesome food at night or any other time. For such it is absolutely necessary to use Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, because they will digest the food, no matter how weak the stomach may be, nourishing the body and resting the stomach at the same time. Dr. Stephenson says: "I depend almost entirely upon Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets in treating indigestion, because it is not a quick nostrum, and I know just what they contain, a combination of vegetable essences, pure pepsin. They cure dyspepsia and stomach troubles, because they can't help but cure." Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are sold by druggists everywhere at one per package. They are in lozenges form, pleasant to take, and contain nothing but pure pepsin, vegetable essences and bismuth, scientifically compounded. Your druggist will tell you they give universal satisfaction.

Wadsworth G. Wheelock, given by his wife, Martha A. Wheelock, and their sons, Charles T. George II., Arthur W. and Frank W. Wheelock. Wadsworth, 1855; Josiah Wright, 1857; William Porter, 1857; J. S. Chapin, 1860; Thomas H. Little, 1867; Wm. Amer, 1867; Truman L. Hollister, 1877; L. D. Jerome, 1878. This panel is given by the Children's Choir and a number of friends. The names of these deacons are to appear on a tablet to be placed in the vestibule of the church and room is to be reserved for the names of two other senior deacons, James Sutherland and Josiah T. Wright, to be placed there, it is hoped, only after many years.

The Tribute

In the calendar Rev. Denison paid

the following tribute to those whose services are remembered in the window: "The men and women of whom we think this morning were lovers and builders of this church. Their sacrifices made it possible. Mr. Wheelock was a man loved and respected and it is largely to his good sense and energy that we owe the present parsonage. Mr. Eldred rendered valuable assistance in the building of this edifice and in many other ways. The memory of the cheerful and genuine Christianity of Mr. and Mrs. Echlin is with us still. Mr. Wilder used to say that Mr. Hollister preached a sermon six miles long—he drove that distance every week to prayer-meeting, rain, shine or blizzard. Mr. Jerome, in addition to other things, helped

HALF A CENTURY OF WEDDED HAPPINESS

Closed for Mr. and Mrs. Lorenzo McKellipon-Saturday—125 Guests at Festivities in Johnston.

Husband and wife for fifty years, Mr. and Mrs. Lorenzo McKellipon on Saturday celebrated their golden wedding anniversary with one hundred and twenty-five friends at their pleasant home in the town of Johnston, seven miles from Janesville. Mr. McKellipon's father, who is ninety-two years of age, was one of the active participants in the festivities. The guests were received in the parlor, the same being elaborately decorated with flowers and greens. Afterwards a sumptuous repast was served. Rev. Hues in behalf of those who had come to rejoice with the happy couple made a most appropriate address and this was followed by the presentation of a number of beautiful gifts, including jewelry, furniture, crockery, and linen. Among the Janesville people present were Mr. and Mrs. George Carey and Mr. and Mrs. George Lamb.

EASTERN PAPER HAS INTERESTING STORY

Railway Rate Legislation in Wisconsin is Discussed by New York Journal of Commerce.

As indicating by specific illustrations some of the disastrous results of attempts on the part of a State to conduct the business of the railroads through legislative or rather restrictive rate legislation, the New York Journal of Commerce in its issue of September 29, publishes an interesting article from its special correspondent at Milwaukee, Wis. As showing the workings of the new Wisconsin railroad law (framed under the personal direction of E. P. Bacon, the shippers' advocate for rate regulation by Congress), the facts the facts this correspondent presents are of exceptional interest to all who are concerned in the issue of the national regulation of railway charges. Among other statements this correspondent says: Great credit was taken to themselves by the supporters of the new Wisconsin law for doing the railroads a very substantial service in prohibiting all forms of free transportation. The law has gone into effect it is found that immigration into the State has come to a sudden stop. The railroads had been in the habit of giving passes to real estate agents to assist them in locating settlers upon the vast areas of vacant lands in the north. As there is not profit enough in the business to enable the land agents to pay out considerable sums for railroad fare, they have ceased operations and the settlers have stopped coming. More settlers meant increased business not alone for the railroads but also for the manufacturing centers, which had been thriving so amazingly in the southern part of the State. Again the railroads had been giving very low rates to harvest hands to enable the farmers to get labor when they needed it. The law forbids them now to give reduced rates. The result is the farmer must gather as much of the harvest as he can with his wife's help and let the rest spoil. Persons traveling for pleasure may no longer stop off in their journey across Wisconsin unless they are willing to pay a heavy penalty for doing so in the form of local fares from point to point, which are much greater than the through rate. Catering to pleasure travel had been an important business in Wisconsin before the new law went into effect. But the new law forbids stop-overs. Disabled soldiers and inmates of soldiers' homes are required by the law to pay full fare now just the same as any one else. Formerly the railroads granted them substantial concessions. Officers and agents of charitable institutions in going after persons consigned to their care must now pay full fare, which, of course, comes out of the taxpayers' pockets. Formerly the railroads granted favors to this class of travel. No private excursion can travel at reduced rates over any railroad in Wisconsin now. The law forbids granting any reduced rate on any pretext.

But it is the effect of the new law on the freight rate situation that is most dreaded. No evil has resulted yet because the new law has not been invoked, and so the status quo has not been disturbed. But the railroads are adhering to the laws with a fidelity which is agonizing, and everyone else in the State is walking on tiptoe and speaking in whispers for fear some unfortunate move may start the new law into operation, as a loud word sometimes sets a snow-slide in motion. It is the consensus of opinion that once the rate-increasing under the new law begins Wisconsin, which is rapidly developing into the great manufacturing State which natural conditions have decreed that it should be, will speedily be reduced to the condition of Iowa, which is actually going backward in population while all the States around it are thriving marvelously. Iowa has had for some years a law to make the railroads behave themselves while in the State.

The Kinnebrew Irrigating Canal which waters twenty thousand acres of land on the west bank of the Columbia river, is one of the newest and best irrigating propositions in the United States. Kinnebrew is the gateway to the Yakima valley. The season is from two to three weeks earlier than the upper valley, and the alfalfa, peaches, pears and all small fruits, such as strawberries, cantaloupes, etc., which ripen very early, command the highest market prices. Write to C. W. Mott, general irrigation agent, Northern Pacific Railway, St. Paul, Minn., and he will send you descriptive pamphlets of the Yakima valley where land can still be had at reasonable prices and in a climate mild and beautiful. If you wish information regarding lands or business openings in other territory covered by the Northern Pacific Railway, Mr. Mott will be glad to send it free. Will be pleased to call upon you on receipt of postal card, to give you full information regarding rates, tickets, through car and train service arrangements, etc.

Best Place for a Shirtwaist (Rural Retreat, Va., Times). A shirtwaist is all right in its place. It is useless to state where its place is. One good place is in your arms. You should never forget that one shirtwaist in your arms is worth a dozen hanging on a clothes-line. In fact, a shirtwaist floating around in a wash tub is a sad and solemn sign. It is calculated to reform one of the dear ones gone before or behind. The bustle and hoop skirt live only in memory and old barrels, and when I gaze upon the limp form of a 50-cent shirtwaist, I soon find it makes me feel that the time will soon come when it, too, will be gathered to its fathers and mothers. Yes, my friends, the shirtwaist is all right on a woman, but I call on all healthy, able-bodied men to keep it off of the men. It is hateful enough to see women wearing men's clothes, but when it comes to men wearing women's garments, then I want to crawl into some thick patch of woods and die.

UNIVERSITY NEWS OF THE STUDENTS

BRIEF BITS OF COLLEGIATE LIFE ARE GIVEN.

PRESENT NEWS SCHOLARSHIPS

Students from All Over the World—University Battalion Has Its Quota of Officers.

Mr. Henry Gund, of La Crosse, Wis., has presented the University of Wisconsin with funds with which to establish a graduate scholarship in the department of German at the university. The purpose of the scholarship is to encourage advanced study in German literature and philology. Elias I. Tolonen, '05, Madison, has been awarded this honor, which is known as the Gund Graduate Scholarship in German.

Many Foreign Students. Thus far this year forty students from thirteen foreign countries have enrolled at the University of Wisconsin, the largest number in the history of the institution. Japan heads the list with twelve students. There are seven from the Philippines, five from Mexico, four from the Argentine Republic, three from Russia, two from Germany and one each from Chile, Cuba, Porto Rico, Norway, Sweden, Denmark, and England. Many of these foreign students are pursuing regular undergraduate courses while others are doing graduate work in the special fields, such as political economy, agriculture, dairy bacteriology, etc., in which the university has established an international reputation.

Win Military Honors. Col. C. A. Curtis, commander of the University of Wisconsin corps of cadets, has made the following appointments of officers of the university regiment for the year: Colonel, Henry C. Duke, Madison; lieutenant-colonel, George R. Ray, Wausau; major and adjutant, Richard A. Schmidt, West De Pere; major and inspector, Howard C. Hopson, Ft. Atkinson; captain and quartermaster, Colin W. Wright, Monroe; sergeant-major, Charles S. Mott, Milwaukee; sergeant and chief trumpeter, Robert A. Wood, Chicago; major first battalion, Perry C. Teschler, Milwaukee; Benjamin F. Bennett, Baltimore, Md.; William K. Winkler, Milwaukee; captain target detachment, Clayton R. Mordock; captain signal corps, Charles R. Clark, Caribage, Ill.

Catalogue of Graduates. The regents of the University of Wisconsin have authorized the publication of the quinquennial catalogue of graduates and former students of the University of Wisconsin; and Max Loeb, '05, editor of the Alumni magazine, has been placed in charge of compiling the necessary information. The catalogue will include the name, residence, occupation, and office, not only of all graduates of the university as in previous issues, but also of all former students.

Faculty Much Increased. The faculty of the University of Wisconsin has sixty-nine members this year. Of this number eight are professors, three lecturers, thirty-four instructors and twenty-four assistants. A number of these new appointments have been made to fill the vacancies caused by resignations, while others have been made necessary by the growth and development of the institution.

FOOTBALL TALK ON THE CHICAGO GAME

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Madison, Wis., Oct. 16.—Assistant Coach "Eddie" Holt is being rolled upon to a large degree to bring the University of Wisconsin football team to the point of preparation for the Chicago game. The famous line player of the strongest Princeton team who is assisting Phil King has watched the maroons play two games this season, and it is whispered that last Saturday particularly he saw things which will be used extensively this week in the process of final preparation for the championship game which will pit Chicago or Wisconsin out of the running for premiership on the gridiron of the middle west. On the outcome of Saturday's contest on Camp Randall, Holt has as much at stake as King. The latter has already let it be known that he will not coach after the end of the present season. He declared that his career of coaching was over when he left Madison at the close of the 1902 season, a beaten man after a regime of seven years. He was drawn in as an assistant at Princeton and was so successful that when the great upheaval in University of Wisconsin coaching system had graduated coaching agents, he was prevailed upon to come back here for one season at a salary of $1,000 and a contingent fund for expenses. He brought Holt as his assistant and it is understood here that upon Holt the mantle of King will fall if the present season is successful. Therefore it is up to Holt to "make good" in the wide range of responsibility given him this season by King. Holt has had practically entire charge of the line, while King's efforts have been devoted to the backfield.

The Chicago tackles are the men for whom the offensive gun of Wisconsin is being loaded this week behind the closed gates of Camp Randall. The plays in which Burke or Deering are drawn back, either to carry the ball or to lead the onslaught, will be used assuredly more than any other of the variety in the Badger stock, for it is those plays that have been designed especially for use against big teams and if Wisconsin wins this season it will be known that it was through these tackle-back plays rather than through any other element. In the last two games, against Lawrence and Notre Dame, these plays were not extensively used, partly because Chicago coaches have been on the grounds and because the opposing teams have not been strong enough to call for the best the Badgers had to offer in the game in Milwaukee Saturday against Notre Dame wide end runs were more effective than masses over tackle or plunges through the line. Flinlay or Wrahe repeatedly ran nearly across the field before turning toward the goal, and gains were made, but such football is disastrous when played against a big team, where there is always more or less sitting through the line and where the result of the game may turn on a single error of judgment. The extent of secret practice suggests that King and Holt are preparing a lot of clever tricks with which to fool the maroons, but this is not believed here to be the case. There will be tricks, and it is undoubtedly hoped that the maroons can be caught napping, but the game will be a contest of strength and straight football, rather than of finesse with trick plays, and for the steady, relentless smashing against the Chicago team, Burke and Deering will alternate to assist the Badger backs. The gains are expected to be made over the Chicago tackles; not long runs, but one-yard, two or three yards at a smash. Wisconsin will play to hold the ball as much as possible for the Badgers are not good at the kicking end of the game this year. There is no reliable drop-kicker, no powerful punter and no one who can be depended upon to kick a goal after a touchdown. Most of the after-goals for which Wisconsin has tried after touchdowns this season have not been counted.

The results of other games were: Chicago 15, Indiana 6; Michigan 18, Vanderbilt 0; Northwestern 38, Beloit 7; Minnesota 14, Ames 0; Illinois 12, St. Louis university 6; Nebraska 10, Knox 0; Purdue 12, Wabash 10; Monmouth 26, Lombard 5; Lawrence 51, Oskosh normal 0; Rose 10, Milliken 6; Washington 6, Arkansas 0; Grinnell 5, Coe 4; DePaul 69, Franklin college 0; Cincinnati 12, Earlham college 0; Western Reserve 12, Heidelberg 0; Yale 30, Holy Cross 0; Harvard 12, Springfield Training 0; Princeton 48, Bucknell 0; Pennsy 17, North Carolina 0; Columbia 11, Williams 5; Virginia P. BLINDFOLDED ON A PERILOUS JOURNEY

Mae Huntress and Ethel Crowley Underwent Saturday Night Torture Prescribed by J. T. B.

Blindfolded and helpless in the arms of their captors, two neophytes were on Saturday evening taken on a journey beset with real and imaginary perils which brought them at last to the oasis wherein dwells the society of the J. T. B. Pedestrians on South Main street stopped to inquire: "What are those girls up to?" but could get no satisfactory answer. At the home of Miss Pearl Baker the Misses Ethel Crowley and Mae Huntress were welcomed as new members and a dainty repast was served. The society was recently organized and is officiated by Miss Wilna Jones, president; Miss Eloise Fifield, secretary; and Miss Eloise Fifield, secretary; at arms. The next meeting is to be held at the home of Miss Ethel Pond on Milwaukee avenue.

BAD LUCK PURSUED SHOW THAT APPEARED HERE LAST SATURDAY NIGHT AT MYERS

The Smith-Marshall Vandeville company have had a run of hard luck the past few days that may explain their ragged performance on Saturday afternoon at the Myers Opera House. Manager F. S. Smith said this morning that their entire picture machine was destroyed by fire in Whitewater and that the machine used by them Saturday was one hastily shipped from Chicago. The performance Saturday afternoon was put on without a rehearsal but Saturday evening the show went all right and pleased the audience.

THE BIRTH

of the Genuine Round Oak thirty-four years ago marked the change in heating of stoves from crudity to perfection. No other stove will burn all kinds of fuel with economy, success and satisfaction to the user.

In using coal, for instance, it has a double fire pot with cone-center grate, which prevents the formation of clinkers and gives the hottest fire around the outside of the fire pot, instead of in the center.

It has a hot blast, used for soft coal only.

The air is taken in at the feed door, carried around the top of the fire pot and discharged on top of fire through a series of openings. This burns the soot and gases, and makes the smoke white, thus a steady, even fire can be maintained with the hot blast alone, burning coal from the top downward.

Then, for hard coal with or without magnesia, and coke or wood, it is equally successful.

You simply cannot afford to pass the ROUND OAK by, if you need a heating stove.

Always look for the name "ROUND OAK" on the leg. There are hundreds of imitations.

"Yes, Fritz, you guessed it. That is the Round Oak Office Building. Tomorrow we will see the shops where the Round Oaks are made."

— FORTY YEARS AGO —

Janesville Daily Gazette, Monday, October 10, 1865.—Sorghum Syrup.—We are indebted to Mr. D. Strunk for the best specimen of sorghum syrup we have ever seen. It is not only almost wholly free from that peculiar taste which attaches to this article, but particles of granulation are plainly visible in it. The public taster can have an opportunity of pronouncing on it by calling at our office.

Editors Gazette: In answer to Mr. Boland and Madison friends, in relation to the mailing of your papers, when brought from your office, I have only this to say: The papers, when brought from your office, are placed at once upon the distributing table and mailed immediately. If they fail to arrive on time, the fault is not with this office.

J. M. BURGESS, P. M.

The Way It Looks to Outsiders.—Here is what the Milwaukee Sentinel says of our position on the temperance question: We see that at the recent politico-temperance meeting in Janesville, some growler accused the Janesville Gazette of being untrue to the temperance cause. Excepting the Wisconsin Chief, the organ of the Good Templars' cause in this state, no paper has been one half as staunch and bold in defense of temperance and abhorrence of the liquor traffic as the Gazette.

City Items.—We had the pleasure of shaking hands with Captain Putnam, the citizen, and not the Provost Marshal, he having been mustered out of the service yesterday. During the occupancy of the position he has discharged his duties with great acceptance to the district at large, as he retires from the place he has held so well, with the good wishes of the people with whom he has had to do.

Capt. H. N. Comstock, with his discharge papers, received the promotion of Major by brevet.

The company organized to manufacture the "Clow" reaper have the frame of their manufacturing establishment already up, and are pushing the work forward with vigor.

..COMING ATTRACTIONS..

Miss Amelia Stone, the prima-donna of "The Geoez Geck," the musical comedy success which comes direct to this city from a prosperous run at the Garrick theatre in Chicago, is a discovery of Johann Strauss, the great orchestra leader and composer. By reason of his interest in her and admiration of her vocal talent he wrote especially for her "Vienna Strollers." Miss Stone is a native of Cincinnati. Prior to her debut with the "Geoez Geck" she spent many years under the best vocal instructors in Europe. What success she has attained in her chosen profession can be attributed solely to her pluck and "stick-to-it-iveness," a characteristic feature of the American girl. The "Geoez Geck" will be presented at the Myers Grand Wednesday, Oct. 12.

The odd, not to say the cryptic title of Paul Armstrong's new comedy, "The Heir to the Hoorah" creates a lot of comment and considerable inquiry. A good many citizens appear to jump to the conclusion that a piece under such a name should be a musical comedy or an extravaganza. But it isn't. "The Heir" is a play supposedly born during the progress of Act II, and "the Hoorah" is a mine to which the guileless infant is heir apparent.

Labor Notes

Of late there is noted an awakening in the churches to the importance of the labor question. The most notable evidence of this is the establishment of a department of "Church and Labor" by the Presbyterian and Lutheran churches. The objects of this movement will be to study the labor movement, its principles and objects, the men who are behind it, and the effect which would follow were these principles put into complete force.

Belgium allows special railway rates to workmen who wish to purchase homes in the country.

The German society for social reform has petitioned the Federal Legislature of Germany to pass an act to regulate the working time of females over 16 years of age, who work in factories or industrial establishments.

In 1890 there were 3,914,571 women employed in gainful occupation in America. In 1900 the number had increased to 5,223,807.

In order to prepare reports and statements to be submitted to the annual convention of the American Federation of Labor, which will be held at Pittsburgh, Pa., beginning November 13, the executive council met recently at the national headquarters A. F. L. in Washington in regular quarterly session. According to a statement by Samuel Gompers the Pittsburgh convention will take a pronounced position on Mongolian labor, including Chinese, Japanese and Koreans, and will insist on rigid exclusion. As to European immigration, labor will declare for educational costs and poll tax, while the subjects of the eight-hour day, child-labor, sweat shops and federal injunctions will be treated according to previous policy.

The annual report of the general secretary of the United Garment Workers to the Cleveland convention of August 1893, shows that about 30,000,000 labels were used during the year preceding.

The eight hour strike of the printers is spreading throughout the country.

A strike of the Mattress Makers Union for a ten per cent increase in wages is now in progress in New York City. Forty-five shops employing 500 women, are affected.

Baled straw is in demand, but great care should be taken in gathering and selecting for market in order to secure the best price.

CATARRH FIRST A COLD THEN CATARRH THEN CONSUMPTION

A cold in the head is a common ailment, but it rarely ever stops there. It often grows stubborn and protracted, thus mucous membranes, or inner lining of the body, become inflamed and secrete a filthy, unhealthy matter which is absorbed by the blood and soon produces that disgusting disease, Catarrh. Then follow the unpleasant symptoms of "hawking and spitting," ringing noises in the ears, headache, poor appetite, mucus dropping back into the throat, and a feeling of general debility. Every day the blood becomes more heavily loaded with these poisonous secretions, and if the trouble is allowed to run on, the lungs become diseased from the constant passage of poisoned blood through them, and then Catarrh terminates in the most dreaded and fatal of all diseases, Consumption. The only way to get rid of Catarrh permanently is to cleanse the blood, and S. S. S. is the ideal remedy for this purpose. It soon clears the system of all impurities, purges the blood of all Catarrhal matter and poisons, and effectually checks the progress of this dangerous and far-reaching disease. S. S. S. keeps the blood in perfect order so that Catarrh cannot remain; and as this pure, healthy blood goes to every nook and corner of the body, the entire system is strengthened and invigorated, and the symptoms all pass away. Book with information about Catarrh and medical advice free.

Judith of the Plains

BY MARIE MANNING

Another triumph in our arrangements for fiction. We have secured for our columns this

Masterpiece in Novels of the West

Miss Manning has described the life of the plains with vividness and power; the cattle stealing, the terrible cattle stampeding and the tense tragedy of Jim's lynching.—Hartford Times.—It has remained for a woman to write the most vivid, and in the opinion of many westerners, the most accurate story of western life.—Chicago Inter-Ocean.—There is much of the flavor of Bret Harte in this delightful story of the far west.—Boston Transcript.

Many of the smart tailored coats are fur-lined, especially the loose fitting designs. A charming model in dark blue cloth has the jacket lined with squirrel. A charming model in dark blue cloth has the jacket lined with squirrel. Each side of the loose front is slashed and faced with velvet, which, in turn, is trimmed with narrow soutache braid with silk buttons at the ends. This braided and button trimmed velvet is a favorite trimming for tailored costumes and is elegant in effect without being complicated. It is used for the rather short sleeves and repeated at the shoulders. For the collar there is a handsome design of heavy lace with cuffs to match. The skirt is a sixty-five garment affair, the gores being laid in points and finished with a deep hem.

Some of the larger plaids are very smart and frolics of these fabrics are enjoying an unusually large share of a fashionable favor. The skirt of a chic design is a circular affair finished at the bottom by a deep tuck of the same goods, put on to give a double skirt effect. With it is worn an original coat showing an Empire yoke cut in modified scallops at its lower edge, these points being stitched down over the body, which has plaits both back and front. The sleeves and a little above the wrists are and are finished with turned-back cuffs edged with the inevitable band of silk braid.

With the latest output of dress accessories it is possible to have an Empire effect upon the coat without cutting the garment in this design, which after all seems an extravagance since the mode is not firmly established. Going back to the accessories, however, there are some charming Empire yoke effects of lace, the trimming being supplied with eyelets back and front, through which velvet ribbon can be threaded to effect the fastening. Very decorative designs have long strips of the lace extending down the sides to the edge of the coat, while others have their elegance concentrated upon the yoke itself which is embroidered and adorned in all the elegant little ways that characterize fashionable details.

Speaking of separate lace trimmings, there also come very pretty panels and pantofoles for princess gowns and the bottom of chic skirt models. The lace can be easily applied to the gown, completely changing and adorned in all the elegant little ways that characterize fashionable details.

One might get an idea of how this trimming can be arranged from an afternoon frock of princess pattern made of silk crepe. From the yoke to the knees of the skirt the dress is laid in transverse plaits. The panels of lace are put on about five inches apart, at the top, although at the bottom they run quite close together, being graduated. The yoke is decorated, matching the lace panels and the elbow sleeves are trimmed with a single medallion which might be one

MRS. W. B. HOUGH 15 Pearl St.

Is another enthusiastic friend gained for Dr. Richards by his painless methods. She says that he extracted four teeth for her and that his moderate prices for the beautiful gold bridge work, which he made for her, saved her just $20 in cash over what she would have had to pay elsewhere in Janesville for the same work.

Just think of that!

$20 saved on one piece of work; and she furthermore would be pleased to show the work to any one wishing to see it, as it cannot be excelled in beauty and strength, no matter what price is paid.

As Dr. Richards saved HER money he can save YOU money IF you give him your dental work.

"A better class of diamonds," says the "Importer," "are sold today than have ever been sold before. People demand the white and flawless stone, and the cheap stuff is not marketable as it used to be."

Diamonds vary in color and are distinguished by the dealer as follows:

1. BLUE WHITE.
 2. CRYSTAL.
 3. YELLOW.
- The brilliancy of a diamond is due entirely to the cutting. There are 58 facets on a diamond, 23 on the top and 25 on the bottom. If a diamond is cut too thick, you lose weight, if too thin, brilliancy.

To secure the most brilliancy or proper reflection, the stone must be perfectly round and the facets evenly laid. Also, the diamond should have a sharp girdle—if the girdle has thickness the unpurified surface diminishes the brilliancy.

Points to consider in judging a diamond's value:

1. COLOR.
2. PERFECT OR DEGREE OF IMPERFECTION.
3. CUTTING.

CITY EXPERIENCED A PECULIAR STORM

Wind Varied on Sunday—Temperatures Fell and Then Rose Again During Day.

Janesville yesterday experienced one of the most peculiar wind-storms that it has met with for some time and yet no damage was done. On Saturday morning a severe wind from the weather bureau's south-southwest country to watch out for heavy winds. On the lakes this was particularly to be noted. The wind yesterday varied from between nine to thirty miles an hour. Usually from the southwest it veered into the west about eleven and later went back to the southwest with renewed strength. The storm came from out in Iowa and swept along over southern Wisconsin, starting Saturday night shortly after tea. Evidently this storm was not taken into calculation when the weather men sent out "Fair and Warmer" for Sunday's climate.

OLD YEARNING FOR BONES AND TAMBO

Has Made Itself Felt Among Amateurs Again—Elks Are Planning a Big Minstrel Show.

Janesville is to have another amateur minstrel show this winter and the performance will be put on at the Myers theatre for two successive nights. Janesville Lodge No. 254 of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks will be responsible for it. Though no definite date had been set preparations are already underway and rehearsals will soon be called for. Many, if not all, of those who appeared with the successful Transcontinental organization last year will probably be called upon.

THREE LOCOMOTIVES IN A WRECK TODAY

Smash-Up in Local St. Paul Yards—Big Compound Backs Into a Double Header

Hidden from each other's view by the hills that line the St. Paul company's tracks south of the city on the curve near where Gold street intersects, a big compound engine early this morning backed into the head engine of a special freight train from Madison that was being drawn by two locomotives to the new yards. The tank of the compound, number 206, was greatly damaged, and the pilot and forward portion of the engine on the freight was demolished. The compound, manned by Engineer Richardson and Fireman Dearlove, was coming from the new yards to the roundhouse, having taken the Chicago freight there, while the two locomotives, the leader 514 in charge of Engineer Armstrong and the second number 80, in charge of Engineer Wadsworth, were hauling the special to the yards. In the crush the 514 was derailed, but the wrecking crew succeeded shortly in replacing it on the tracks and both damaged machines were taken to the local shops for repairs. No one was injured, though all the workmen on the three engines were badly shaken up.

SAUSAGE CASES IN MUNICIPAL COURT

Nelson, Morris & Co. Ask That Sample Be Sent to Their Chemist—One Dealer Pleaded Guilty.

In municipal court this afternoon the actions brought by the state against several meat-dealers in the city were taken up. W. W. Woodring, who handled Swift & Co.'s sausage, pleaded guilty and paid the fine. The cases of W. A. Murray, who handled the Nelson Morris & Co. product, and Mr. Smith, who sold the Agar Packing Co.'s product, were set for trial on Nov. 9. Atty. R. Wollner, representing the Nelson-Morris Co., was on hand. He asked for his company that a part of the sample tested at Madison be sent to the company's Chicago chemist. If the result of the test made there should correspond with the one made at the city hall, they would advise the party who handled their merchandise in Janesville to plead guilty. Inspector Moore had this to say about the work of the commission: "It would take a whole army of us to go after all the adulterated foods placed on sale in this state. We are only touching the high places. Preservatives in meat, taken alone, might not be so dangerous, but when these preservatives and coal tar colorings are in such widespread use as they are at present, the amount that may be consumed by a single person in a day is something terrible to contemplate. Their action is to absolutely prevent the digestion of the food and consuming products which contain them is worse than useless."

MAY TAKE UP MATTER OF RAILROAD SPURS

Applications of Northwestern Have Not Yet Been Disposed of by City Council—Meeting Tonight.

It is probable that some disposition of the applications of the C. & N. W. Ry. Co. for franchises to lay tracks on Center avenue and Railroad street will be made at the meeting of the city council this evening. The ordinance in question can be given their third readings and placed on passage by a two-thirds vote. In all likelihood, also, final action will be taken on the much-mooted Kasterer sidewalk matter. The regular routine business will be before the session for consideration.

OBITUARY.

Mrs. B. F. Blanchard.
Mrs. B. F. Blanchard, beloved by the hundreds who were associated with her in church and lodge work where her executive ability and indefatigable labors made her a natural leader, passed away at her home, 151 Lincoln street, shortly after four o'clock Saturday afternoon. She had been afflicted with bowel trouble and confined to her bed for nearly four weeks. Despite the efforts of skilled physicians her condition did not improve and her condition was known to be very critical for several days preceding her demise. Deceased was forty-nine years of age. A husband and one daughter, Mrs. Frank James of Beloit, survive. Mrs. Blanchard was prominently identified for many years with Janesville Lodge No. 471, Daughters of Rebekah.

Funeral services were held this afternoon at two o'clock from the home. Rev. R. C. Denison was the officiating clergyman and the singers were Mrs. C. F. Yates, Mrs. Clark, George Parish and Cove Van Kirk. The Janesville lodge, number 171, Daughters of Rebekah, were in charge and the following served as honorary pallbearers: Mrs. C. Stout, Mrs. J. C. Stanton, Mrs. Louis Tramblich, Mrs. A. H. Taylor, Mrs. Otto E. Kneip, Mrs. E. R. Angell, Mrs. J. W. Clark and Mrs. E. C. Burdick. The active pallbearers were S. B. Kenyon, Jerome Howland, C. J. Blakely, Louis Tramblich, A. F. Watson and George H. Dopp. The interment was in Oak Hill cemetery.

Miss Alice Sanner.
All that is mortal of the late Miss Alice Sanner was tenderly laid in the place of final rest in Oak Hill cemetery yesterday, the funeral being conducted from the home of her mother, Mrs. Henrietta Sanner, 254 Lincoln street, at two o'clock in the afternoon. Rev. J. H. Tippet officiated and song services were rendered by E. E. Van Pool and Miss Pearl Hall. The pallbearers were Louis Hearn, E. E. Van Pool, Harlan Cary and W. I. Rothmeier. The attendance of loving friends was large and the floral tributes were beautiful.

Edwin Booker.
Funeral services over the remains of the late Edwin Booker took place this afternoon at two o'clock from 55 Prospect avenue. Rev. J. H. Tippet officiating. The pallbearers were J. G. Wray, L. M. Nelson, Sherman Phelps, Stanley Hutchinson, Charles Riker and John H. Jones. Interment was in Oak Hill cemetery. Among the large concourse of people in attendance was a delegation from W. H. Sargent Post, Grand Army of the Republic.

Carrie Edna Weirick.
Carrie Edna Weirick, four-months-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Maynard Weirick, passed away Saturday evening at the home in the town of La Prairie. Funeral services were held from the residence this afternoon at two o'clock. Rev. Lugs of Shopiere conducting the ceremonies. The pallbearers were James Conway, Ed Raymond, Norman Lowry and Clayton Earle. Burial was in Shopiere.

Josephine Violetta Shaw.
All that remains of the late Josephine Violetta Shaw, little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Shaw, was tenderly laid at rest in Oak Hill cemetery yesterday. The funeral was held from the home on Pleasant street at two o'clock in the afternoon. Rev. R. C. Denison officiating. Song services were rendered by Mrs. A. O. Wilson and Miss Edw. Davis. The pallbearers were Fred Holden, Earl Gardner, Guy Newman and Will Austin.

Herbert Baldwin.
Died at his home at Vinemont, Ark., Aug. 21st, Herbert Baldwin, formerly of this city and a son of Mrs. Abbie Baldwin Griffing. He received his school and business college education in Janesville. He was a manly Christian boy and endeavored himself to all with whom he was associated. He was a devoted son and brother.

"PRINCESS ALICE," the orientals called the daughter of the president during her trip through the far east. Now, we Americans are not much given to the "princess" mania, but we have a very lively appreciation of Miss Roosevelt for the reason that she has shown herself a sweet, full blooded and piquant type of American womanhood. That in our eyes is better than being a princess or duchess or what not.

It is doubtful if any young woman in the history of the world ever had so many and varied experiences and such honors showered upon her as have fallen to the lot of Miss Roosevelt. In her own land she has traveled much and has been a popular and social favorite wherever she has gone. In Porto Rico she was showered with attentions unique in the history of the island. In Hawaii she was received with the popular acclaim which at that time was bestowed on the queens. In the Philippines her progress was like a triumphal march. In Japan she received not only royal attentions, but was given a popular ovation of "banzais" such as the people of Nippon never before gave a woman. In China she was received by the empress dowager, and to cap all she was offered the hand and the heart of the redoubtable sultan of Sulu.

MISS ALICE ROOSEVELT.

After all this old world homage, like a good, sensible girl, she comes home to marry a plain American. It seems almost too good to be true, the fortunate man being Congressman Nicholas Longworth of Cincinnati.

We are fairly familiar with "the son of his father" in this land of the free, but the "daughter of her father" has not been brought so much to our attention. If Miss Roosevelt is a fair sample of such daughters we want to hear more of them. Let us know a trifle less of the masculine offspring of greatness and more of the feminine. The change is a relief. It is too frequently the case that where young men are proud of their fathers the fathers have no apparent reason for being proud of the young men. There should be reciprocity in that sort of business. Perhaps it is a fact, as so often claimed, that boys resemble their mothers and girls their fathers. At any rate, Alice Roosevelt is her father's daughter. It is related that one of the Knickerbockers, after seeing the zest with which she danced, remarked in his laudatory way: "Bah! Jove! How strenuous! She is a chip of the old block."

She Won the Prize.

It was not always so. Just after her debut the daughter of the White House did not appear particularly strong. She was but a slip of a girl, and her friends observed with concern that she tired easily. It was then that the president intervened. He advised athletics and outdoor exercises, especially riding. The present of a fine horse accompanied the advice, also the offer of a gold mounted riding whip as a prize for proficiency in the saddle. The whip was to go either to Miss Alice or her brother Ted and should be awarded to the one that showed the greatest advancement in a given time. It is worthy of note that the daughter won the prize. Nor was this the only result. The air of weariness disappeared, and there was a gain of fifteen pounds in weight. It will be remembered that in his boyhood President Roosevelt himself was quite delicate. The strenuous life in the open was chosen deliberately to improve his health. So the daughter has followed in her father's footsteps in more ways than one.

For example, there is the matter of hats. An artist once painted Miss Roosevelt in a hat about three years out of style. That artist wanted a picture and was wise to human nature, especially of the feminine variety. Like her mother, the young lady was averse to photographs, had none since she was eleven and refused to have one. So this particular artist sent in the picture with the hat three years old, adding the cheerful assurance that he would rather have a photograph, but if he could not get one would use the sketch, antiquated headpiece and all. A family council was called, and the daughter of the house decided that the picture must not be published. The president demurred at this. He asked if the face was not a fair likeness. No objection to the face was developed. But, oh, that hat!

"Is it really so important?" pleaded Mr. Roosevelt.

"I should think," responded the daughter, "that you would be the last to question the utility of the proper hat in one's career."

This was evidently a stab at the famous cowboy chapeau, so the laugh was on the president. Miss Roosevelt went at once to a photographer.

Hit a Bullseye Three Times Out of Five.

Then there is the matter of shooting. Is it not on record that the daughter of her father slays bears and wildcats like some of the sons of the house. But she can hit a mark. It was at Coney Island that, after seeing everything that was to be seen, shaking hands with some Filipinos whom she had encountered at the St. Louis exposition and having, as she expressed it, "the time of her life," Miss Roosevelt stopped at a Wild West shooting gallery, seized a gun and hit the bullseye three times out of five.

"Want, Miss Roosevelt, you can shoot some," said the owner of the gallery. "I knew your father out west."

"Does he shoot any better than I do?" was the girl's laughing response. But the wild westerner was wise in his generation and sidestepped the question.

Here is another quite Rooseveltian escapade: During the trip to Manila the girl dared her escort to leap, dressed as they were, into the swimming pool.

erected about 1890. Some versions of the story say the exact in question was Congressman Longworth, while others aver that it was a certain United States senator, name withheld. Whoever it was, the man hesitated. Possibly he did not wish to see the dainty white waist and cream skirt of his companion ruined. Then he may have had some compunctions about his own suit. At any rate, he waited too long.

"Well, if you don't dare I do," flashed the daughter of her father, and into the tank she leaped. The man followed and helped get her back on deck.

The whole world gasped when the president went down in a submarine, but very few knew that his darling daughter had preceded him in such a feat by two years, having gone to the bottom of Narragansett Bay in the Moccasin. She was the only woman at that time who had ever descended in such a craft.

Doesn't Understand Like Mother.

Miss Alice's mother died in giving birth to the daughter, but the present Mrs. Roosevelt has been as much a mother to the girl as her own could possibly have been. The following little anecdote pretty illustrates this:

Her teacher at school had been inquiring for Mrs. Roosevelt, who was ill, and Alice answered plaintively: "She isn't much better yet. Yes, it's pretty hard, Papa stays at home most all the time, you see, and that makes it dreadfully inconvenient."

"Why, how is that?"

"Oh, don't you see? He doesn't understand, like mamma. When mamma tells me to be at home at 4 o'clock and I get there at half past six she understands, but when papa says 4 and I get there at even quarter past he doesn't understand at all."

Here is another childhood story that indicates at least a wish to be kind hearted. When walking in the park one day Alice, then a child, sought to comfort a little boy who was screaming and howling because his toy balloon had got away and disappeared amid the clouds. Patting him on the back, she said in a comforting tone: "Never mind about your balloon, little boy. It has gone to heaven, and when you die you will get it again."

The daughter of the White House is versatile in her accomplishments. She plays and sings as well as most young ladies of her age, is more than a fair portrait and landscape painter, is a first class horsewoman, dances well and enthusiastically and is even said to regale her girl friends with fancy dancing and athletic feats of a high and artistic order. To cap all, she is a sleight of hand performer of more than amateur ability. In tricks that require a hat she uses her father's cowboy sombrero. She speaks several languages, being especially proficient in German. When Mrs. Roosevelt was entertaining some German naval officers the daughter of the house aroused their surprise and enthusiasm by carrying on the entire conversation in their own tongue. She is very fond of poetry, her favorites being Keats and Shelley, from whom she often reads to the younger children by the hour. In addition to all these accomplishments, Miss Roosevelt is said to be a good judge of fast horses, having won money by picking two winners in one day. She has had several pet snakes in her brief career, one green one having been an especial favorite. A girl who likes poetry and snakes, who does fancy dancing and portrait painting, who goes down in submarines and dives in street dress, who is a sleight of hand performer, a wit and story teller and a brilliant social entertainer, is worthy of notice even if she were not a president's daughter.

Miss Roosevelt is evidently becoming used to the white light. When a young man showed her the morning paper containing fulsome notices of her own doings she said:

"Oh, I am used to that! Wait until you're the president's daughter." He is still waiting.

Almost Caused War Between Sultans.

The story of the sultan of Sulu asking Miss Roosevelt to be his seventh wife—or was it his fourteenth?—has been told so often it will not bear repeating, but the tale of how she almost caused war between this same sultan and a rival chief is not so familiar. The rival gave the fair American an exquisite necklace of pearls, and the smile that she bestowed upon him drove the sultan into a jealous rage. Rushing to her side, he jerked from his finger a ring containing a matchless pearl. Bowing low, he presented it. The recipient's smiles seemed to mollify his rage, and the incident ended without bloodshed.

After meeting the mikado of Japan, the dower empress of China and other great personages it is perhaps remarkable that the daughter of the White House remembers a plain American whom she encountered in California, yet he is more wonderful than all of them. He is Luther Burbank, the wizard who has practically created a new world of fruit. When asked as to his opinion of the president's daughter Mr. Burbank replied:

"She is just a charming girl, and I am delighted with her."

At the same time a grizzled veteran bore this witness:

"She is all right. There are no airs and graces about her, no flimsiness. I guess the president is proud of her. I'd like her to be my daughter."

Perhaps it is not just the thing to give away a woman's age, but Alice Roosevelt was twenty-one the 9th of last February. Congressman Longworth, whom gossip is trying so hard to have her marry, is much her senior. He belongs to a family that has been prominent since before the Revolution. He is several times a millionaire and besides is something of a social lion.

The Dynamo of the American People

We are a race of workers.
Work requires brain, nerve, energy.
We glory in achievement.
To work and work with might and main, good food is absolutely essential.

Although nearly every one eats soda crackers sometime, yet there are a few people who do not consider their true value as an article of daily food. But it is now a recognized and established fact that the soda cracker contains the most tissue, fat and muscle forming elements of any article of food made from flour.

Great as is the value of the common soda cracker, yet it is small in comparison to Uneeda Biscuit—the most wonderful soda cracker ever baked, and of which nearly 400,000,000 packages have been sold.

Uneeda Biscuit, the food of power, transmitting as they do the elements so vital to our well-being, may in very truth be called "The Dynamo of the American People."

DEATH AND INJURY IN WRECK.

Baltimore and Ohio Southwestern Passenger Ditched at Springfield.

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 16.—One woman was killed and over a score of other persons were injured in the wreck of a west-bound Baltimore and Ohio Southwestern passenger train in the outskirts of Springfield Saturday evening. The dead: Mrs. Mary Musch, Virginia, Ill. Most seriously injured: John Bliss, Springfield, may die; William Hatfield, Pleasant Plains, probably will die; John Klecham, Pleasant Plains, probably will die. The accident occurred just west of the city limits at a coal-mine switch. The wind had blown an empty coal car from a siding close to the main track. Traveling at a rate of fifteen miles an hour, the engine of the passenger train struck the coal car. The force of the collision broke the coupling between the tender and baggage car, and the engine plunged ahead the car, as the engine plunged ahead the middle of the baggage car. Baggage car, smoker and day coach were overturned in succession.

GOATS FOR THE POOR

Attempt to Build Up New Animal Industry.

MALTA SPECIES BEING TESTED

Agricultural Department's Object in Importing a Flock of Sixty-eight Is to Develop New Farm Animal For the Poor Just as In Europe—Good Milk and Flesh Producers.

Behind the announcement that the department of agriculture has imported from Malta a flock of sixty-eight goats for experimental purposes lies the determination to build up a new branch of animal industry in the United States, says the Washington correspondent of the New York Post. The Malta goat is a very different animal from the Angora goat, which has been raised in some parts of the United States for its fleece. The new strain is remarkable for its milk producing qualities as well as for its value as a meat product. These two reasons commended the breed to the department, and Secretary Wilson expects to develop it as a new farm animal for the poor, just as in Europe.

Questions of health are foremost in Secretary Wilson's advocacy of the Malta goat. He said recently: "A feature of domestic economy generally overlooked here is given first attention abroad. The desire in European cities to get pure milk, free from all contaminating germs on the one side and adulteration on the other, leads to the driving of goats through the streets and the milking before the purchaser's eyes. Foreigners are aware that the milk so drawn is healthier than that from the cow and so do not object to the somewhat primitive way of obtaining it. They know at least that it is not adulterated."

"Then on the point of freedom from disease germs. There is but 10 per cent of tuberculosis in cattle in this country as against 40 per cent abroad. There is a dispute among scientists as to whether the bacillus which causes tuberculosis in animals can spread the disease to human beings. Our investigations have convinced the department's scientists that children and people in an impaired state of health—and they are the ones most likely to require milk—are affected by using milk from tuberculous cows. This fact in itself is sufficient to give great popularity to the Malta goat when its record for purity of lacteal product becomes generally known. The goat's habits and food tend to make him a healthy farm animal under almost all conditions."

"The goat must be fed as generously as a cow if it is to milk well. It requires the seeds of leguminous plants, such as beans and peas, which have the largest amount of protein, and so allow the most liberal milking. Good results in the amount of milk produced come as a matter of usage, or, more properly speaking, heredity. For instance, in Malta the goat is uniformly milked, and the result is that its progeny are good milkers. This shows the difference between animals which merely get fat from careful feeding and those that give milk."

"Far more varied than that of a cow is the goat's appetite. He has a taste for a wider range of plants and, moreover, will devour weeds and the leaves of trees that the cow would reject. The goat can thus be a most useful animal in cleaning out fields and saving the farmer expense of labor while nurturing itself. Abroad there has been difficulty in keeping the goat from roaming and getting through hedges and walls with ease. He has a bad reputation for his constitutional objection to being confined anywhere. But with women wire fences there is less trouble of that sort in this country, and this one bad trait is overbalanced by all the other good ones."

"A most important point about the Malta goat is that the flesh of the kid is a delicacy like venison, due to the unusual variety of its food. And it is a remarkable fact that the flesh of goats is sold for mutton uniformly. People not acquainted with its good qualities might find objection to buying it. But it is so much like sheep that when it is called mutton it seems all right to them. When the goat's head is removed the carcass resembles that of a sheep."

"As the goat can be kept on waste lands, eating what cattle would reject, it can be seen how the poor could greatly reduce the cost of living by keeping a goat for milking or a flock of them for milking and providing food as well. Each goat yields about three quarts of milk a day. Much mountain land in the various states could be profitably stocked with goats."

Regarding the plans of the department for disposing of the sixty-eight goats recently imported, the secretary said:

"These animals are now in quarantine at Atlanta, N. J. Later some of them will be sent to the Connecticut experiment station, to be cared for, milked and propagated under exact conditions to be noted by the experts of the department. Fifteen of the flock will be dispatched direct to the Maryland station, to be cared for in like manner. From these stations the young will be distributed through the country as fast as they come. In Malta the goats are a source of milk supply for upward of 200,000 people. In this country there are 2,000,000 Angora goats, raised for their fleece and as food. In a comparatively short time we expect to have the Malta goat introduced as a farm animal on as good terms as enjoyed by the people of Malta."

FIVE TRAINMEN DEAD IN WRECK NEAR SEASON

Two Locomotives of Double Header Are Derailed When Train Runs Into a Cow.

Season, Ill., Oct. 15.—Five trainmen were killed Sunday near this place when a heavy double-header freight train, east bound on the Iowa Central railroad ran into a cow on the track at a speed of twenty miles an hour. Both locomotives and eleven freight cars loaded with grain and lumber were piled in a heap beside the track. The dead: George A. Caffai, engineer; Harry Summers, engineer; Harry Barr, fireman; L. H. Briley, fireman; P. T. Morgan, brakeman.

All of the men killed lived in Oskaloosa, Iowa, except Briley, whose home was in Monmouth, Ill. The engineers lived several hours after the wreck occurred, but the other three men were killed instantly.

Disaster Caused by Cow.

A cow was lying on the ties between the rails. She was hidden from view by other cattle standing about it. At the sound of the whistle of the approaching train the standing cattle scampered away, but the forward locomotive struck the lying cow.

The cow was crushed under the wheels of the pilot truck and rolled along the ties for a hundred feet. The animal's blood made the rails slippery and pieces of bone threw the front locomotive from the track. The derailed locomotive pitched down an embankment, drawing the second locomotive into the ditch, where the two machines piled up, crushing the engineers and firemen.

Car after car crushed itself on the hot mass of metal, and the wreckage caught fire from the live coals of the locomotive fire boxes. The conductor and rear brakeman, with persons who lived near by, hastily took the mangled bodies of the trainmen from the burning debris and saved the rest of the train from the flames.

Brakeman Morgan was driven into the earth beneath the end of a box car. Fireman Briley was found dead, but apparently unharmed, beside the tangled steel of the locomotives. Engineer Summers was caught in the cab of his locomotive and cooked by steam and water from the boiler. He lived several hours, although large pieces of cooked flesh fell from the bone.

MRS. TAGGART MAY GET POSSESSION OF BOYS

Chief Counsel for Husband Lays Down Conditions Under Which Mother May Rear Children.

Wooster, Ohio, Oct. 16.—State Representative Wertz, Major Taggart's chief counsel, said that Mrs. Taggart would eventually get entire possession of the children, Culver and "Tiddles," if she co-operated properly with her husband in rearing them.

"Major Taggart hopes that Mrs. Taggart will do what is best for the boys," he said, "and not teach either of them to hate their father. By doing what is right she will in the course of events get them altogether."

Major Taggart realizes that although the court's decision gives him practical possession of the boys, he will find it difficult to overcome the feeling Culver fosters toward him. The boy fears by accompanying his father to the army barracks at Columbus he will never again see his mother and it is this fear that makes him so bitter toward the major.

In view of the turn of events it is not believed that Congressman Smyser, counsel for Mrs. Taggart, will push his motion for a new trial very hard, and it is practically conceded that it will not be granted. The matter of asking that the case be retried was a technical duty which the congressman as attorney for Mrs. Taggart was obliged to perform.

Nelson's Next Fight.

Must Choose Between Britt and Gardner—The Dane Is Dictator.

By THOMAS F. CLARK.

For his next opponent Battling Nelson will choose between Jimmy Britt and Jimmy Gardner.

Immediately after the recent bout with Britt, Nelson said that he would fight Gardner, but that the weight must be satisfactory. This means, or, rather, Nelson said, 150 pounds ringside.

Nelson fought Britt at 133 pounds, but it must be remembered that Britt had the "ace in the hole" and dictated the terms. The Battling one can do 180 pounds at a pinch, and, being in charge for the present of the lightweight championship, he can juggle the weights to suit himself. In doing so he is perfectly right. It isn't on record that a fighter flush from a great victory failed to dictate terms. Nelson is king, and he can justly reap the golden harvest so long delayed. His slogan will be "Steer clear of Gardner, unless Gardner will consent to a weight that will ruin him for fighting purposes."

As far as Nelson's next fight is concerned it is safe to bet that Jimmy Britt will be his opponent. There is money in Britt, and if he and Nelson were to hook up again in the next three months it is almost a certainty that the native son would enter the ring a slight favorite. Although beaten decisively by the durable Dane, the Californians are willing to take "Brother Willie's" version of the affair—a chance blow. The Californians are long on lucky punches and chance blows, especially whenever a native son figures in the losing end, and they are willing to believe that Jesus Edgar was the victim of a wild wallop. After the fight Willie Britt gave out the following: "Jimmy was winning hands down when that wild, crazy wallop arrived and sent him to the sleep counter. He would have surely finished Nelson in another round."

Californians say that Britt made a serious mistake in mixing matters with the Dane. They argue that he should have adopted his old tactics of hit and get away, using his superior speed and foot work, continuing to be a boxer instead of a fighter. But it is hard to take jabs and catcalls. Whenever Britt fought after his most effective fashion sneering voices would cry out with the effect of pouring vinegar into JIMMY GARDNER, THE ABLE LIGHTWEIGHT. Wounds, "That's it; run away, Britt!" And a champion is not supposed to run away. When Britt did try to do the boxing stunt at times Nelson refused to allow him to go through the sprinting stunt. He was right on top of him all the time, and what can a fighter do with a human machine coming with no let up? Many times Britt resorted to clinching to stem the inevitable tide of defeat, but it was right here that Nelson was really brilliant. In close quarters there is no man within ten pounds of his weight that can compete with him. Some say that Nelson is easy to hit. Well, he is, but not in close. He covers up nicely when in a clinch and has a right upper cut that is hard to avoid. Britt might have delayed matters by sprinting, but the defeat was inevitable.

When Britt and Nelson meet again the latter will dictate the terms of battle, and it is needless to say that he will ask for as many rounds as possible. Britt was the vanquished, and he must take what is offered or retire to the woods. As matters stand he will take what is in sight. He firmly believes that he had a chance with the strenuous youth and that another fight will bring forth another result.

In regard to the punching ability of the men there is no choice. Britt can hit just as hard as Nelson. It is in the receiving end that he is lacking. As an illustration of how Nelson can punch take the sixth round. In that act the Dane landed lefts and rights so many times that it was impossible to count them. Still Britt was on his feet and was never sent down for the count. Now, if Nelson had been a puncher he would have ended the agony in the sixth. The same applies to Britt. He landed enough punches on the Dane to whip a dozen men, but never caused him to lose his aggressiveness. Nelson won simply because he is a wonder when it comes to assimilating punishment. Nothing comes too hard for the boy from Hagerstown, while Britt cannot take the grueling and continue.

Changes In New York Americans. Dave Fultz of the New York Americans is going to begin the practice of law this fall and will play no more professional baseball. Pitcher Powell and Left Fielder Dougherty are to be disposed of, and Griffith will have three places to fill in his team.

Yukon Output $6,000,000. Vancouver, B. C., Oct. 12.—Gold shipments of the Yukon territory for the season of 1905 will run approximately to $6,000,000.

DISPENSING JUSTICE IN CHINA.

Severe Punishment Meted Out to Convicted Wrongoers.

A reporter on the staff of the Shanghai Times tells how justice is dealt out to offenders in the police court of that Chinese city: "Business appeared very dull at the Shanghai slave market yesterday, as Yang Wo Zong and Ng Ah Kung were unsuccessful in their attempt to dispose of two girls whom they offered for the ridiculously low sum of $80, after having kidnapped them from their home in Pootung. This case was a very intricate one, the kidnapers having changed owners several times. After going exhaustively into the evidence the court announced that the accused were convicted upon the charge of having attempted to sell the children and they were remanded for further inquiries previous to being sentenced. The children were ordered to be sent to the Refuge for Slave Girls."

"Tseu Chong Sung, a runner, was charged with attempting to extort money from Tsung Yung Sze at 80 Park Road, on the 20th ult. Tseu will not do any sprinting for a week, as he is to be scientifically touched upon the spot by the official bamboo 500 times; after which he goes into the cool, calm seclusion of the municipal cloisters for one week."

"Chang Ah Ong was charged with stealing 120 pairs of the upper parts of Chinese silk shoes, valued at $50. Chang gets 200 blows and a month's imprisonment."

Why He Didn't Get It.

A deckhand on one of the steamers plying between this city and the towns on the Hudson river told a good one. He made the acquaintance of a young woman in Albany this spring and they have become very good friends. She had occasion to write him a letter, but he never received it. The girl is a German.

"Jimmy, why you not answer my letter?" she asked.

"Why, I didn't receive any letter, Lena. Where did you address it?"

"Why, to Mr. Blank, Hudson river."

"Gee whiz, Lena, I guess I'll get that letter the next time I go in swimming."—Albany Journal.

No Need of a Key.

It happened during the recent visit of Secretary Taft. Several of them were debating on the important affairs of the city, when one of the company suggested that it would be a graceful and courteous thing if those who preside over the municipality out at the city hall would present the war secretary with the keys of the city.

"Well, I can't quite comprehend what good the keys of the city would be to Secretary Taft or any one else," quietly suggested Gavin McNab, "in view of the fact that San Francisco is a wide open town."—San Francisco Chronicle.

GRAND

FALL OPENING

October 18th, 19th, 20th, 21st.

To properly bring before people our immense new stock of Fall and Winter Merchandise, we will have an opening and display from Wednesday, the 18th, till Saturday, the 21st.

The opening was delayed owing to important changes made in our windows. It will afford all who can attend an excellent opportunity to see The Big Store at its best and also see the new fall goods of which we have received many thousands of dollars worth; each department plays its part in making up a stock which for completeness cannot be approached by any dry goods house for seventy miles in any direction. We will endeavor to make our store and windows resplendent with beautiful goods and accessories necessary to carry out the elaborate ideas that our trimmer has in mind and has been planning for several weeks past.

Enchanting music will emanate from Kneff's orchestra Wednesday and Saturday afternoons from 2 to 5 o'clock, and evenings 7 to 9 o'clock. There will be much of interest to delight the eye and tickle the fancy.

A 38c Ribbon Event

Rich, Imported Floral Ribbons. To fittingly inaugurate the opening we will make a special sale of Warp Print Ribbons. They are extra wide, the loveliest creations it has ever been our good fortune to offer and includes ribbons that are worth 50c to $1.25 a yard. Wednesday 38c sale price.

"THINGS NOT APPARENT ARE CONSIDERED AS NON-EXISTENT"—Maxim of Latin Law.

THE "LIGHT" OF A STORE,
"HIDDEN UNDER A BUSHEL,"
CEASES TO BE A LIGHT AT ALL.

Publicity, which is the light of a store, should no be snuffed out now and then. Some merchants think that to keep this light always burning costs too much—but, for that matter, so do many other things cost too much.

For example: Your store rent is too high—when your business is poor; you have too many clerks—for a dull day. Yet these things don't worry you for a moment when things are moving, everybody busy or overworked—especially your cashiers—and when you wish you had more room, more clerks, more stock!

Of course you never had one of those busy days that was not the result of aggressive advertising. And you never had a blue trade-day that did not follow a practical hiding of the publicity light.

"ENTERPRISE IN SPOTS" yields, at best, only spots of prosperity. A steady "store-light" of increasing candle-power (inches of space used daily), with the "snuffers" and the "bushels" sent to the cellar—and store-growth and expansion will come in a measure that will amaze you.

"OUT OF SIGHT, OUT OF MIND" sums up the plight of the occasional advertiser!

A Gazette representative will call on you with particulars if you say the word.
